It's not too late to make some 2016 resolutions

The Second City
NETWORK

Liz Kozak
» @TheSecondCity

If you didn't get around to making (and already breaking) a few New Year's resolutions, sorry. You're not off the hook. We're not even halfway through 2016 — there's still plenty of time. Everyone could use a little self-improvement, right? Hell, even Oprah is counting her Weight Watchers points these days.

Worried you don't have what it takes to stay on point? Feel free to borrow some of these New Year's resolutions that yes, even you can actually keep. At least until Groundhog Day.

Work out more

Take one exercise class. Doesn't matter what it is. Just go, and go hard — until you hear a part of your body pop/tear/fall off and splat on the gym floor. This will score you a doctor's note for at least 12 weeks of physical therapy, which is like seeing a court-mandated personal trainer. If you're lucky, yours will spend most of the session applying a full-body heating pad and you can pretend you're trying out a new spa treatment. If you're not, you'll have a weekly killer workout that gets you into the best shape of your life ... on one side only. Do the other side in 2017. Baby steps.

Get healthier

You're an adult now. Measure your NyQuil out in the little cup; don't just chug from the bottle. It's medically safe to pop a zit if you call it "lancing a papule." Fat-free might actually be the worse choice — so when in doubt, always deep-fry. But also add on the half-pound of crab legs. Fish is brain food.

Be more knowledgeable about important current events

You can unlock this resolution level in three easy steps:

- » If you just started watching "Making a Murderer," shut it off. Now. You're too late. By like a week. Everyone else is done with the whole thing and has moved on. If you try to start talking about it at work today, everyone will look at you like you just asked, "Can you even deal with how desperate those housewives are?"
- » Educate yourself and vote.
 - A. Does Justin Bieber really think his vacation cornrows look "douche-y"? Circle Y or N.
 - B. Does Justin Bieber secretly think his vacation cornrows look incredible? Circle Y or Y.
- » Read a publication other than this one. (Hey-o!)

Have more adventures

What's the difference between "best by" and "use by"? And is "sell by" an insider grocery term that lets us in on an entirely different matrix of freshness? What if you want your deli meat nitrate-free, but also want to eat it 17 days after you opened the package? It's cool if you kept it in a Ziploc, right? Is it too much to ask for food that's local and organic, but also lasts until you're done growing out your bangs? There's only one way to find out the answers to these mysteries. Bon appetit, my expiration-date daredevil.

Finally find long-lasting love

Screw dating. Be a lash slut and make your way through every single mascara at Sephora. And Ulta. And Walgreens, because life is short and the hairs on your eyelids shouldn't have to be, too. You'll eventually find The One.

Joaquin 'El Chapo' Guzman is escorted to a helicopter in handcuffs by Mexican soldiers and marines at a federal hangar in Mexico City six months after escaping from a maximum security prison. AP PHOTO

EL CHAPO RECAPTURED

Associated Press

Mexican officials say Sean Penn's contacts with drug lord Joaquin "El Chapo" Guzman helped them track the fugitive down—even if he slipped away from an initial raid on the hideout where the actor apparently met him.

Penn's article on Guzman was published late Saturday by Rolling Stone magazine, a day after Mexican marines captured the world's most wanted kingpin in a raid on the city of Los Mochis near the Gulf of California.

A Mexican federal law enforcement official, speaking on condition of anonymity because he was not permitted to comment on the issue, told the Associated Press that the Penn interview led authorities to Guzman in the area of Tamazula, a rural part of Durango state.

They raided Guzman's remote hideout a few days after the October interview and narrowly missed capturing Guzman, who had escaped from Mexico's top security prison in July.

Describing the capture, Attorney General

Arely Gomez said that investigators had been aided in locating Guzman by documented contacts between his attorneys and "actors and producers" she said were interested in making a film about him, though she did not name them.

Two months after that close call, marines finally caught him in a residential neighborhood of Los Mochis, where they'd been monitoring a suspected safe house. Five people died in a gun battle as troops moved in.

Mexico is willing to extradite Guzman to the United States, a federal law enforcement official said Saturday. Guzman faces federal indictments in Chicago and several other U.S. jurisdictions.

Many in law enforcement believe that the strongest case against El Chapo could be the sweeping indictment brought by then-U.S. Attorney Patrick Fitzgerald in Chicago in 2009. The U.S. Attorney's Office in Chicago has not commented on whether it has made any efforts to have Guzman brought here.

2 teen would-be robbers shot to death at liquor store: police

Two would-be robbers who were fatally shot at a liquor store in Gresham on Saturday night have been identified as Keshawn Marzette, 15, and William Larson, 17, both of the 8300 block of South Throop Street, authorities said. The two were shot to death by a store employee about 8:30 p.m. when they tried to rob Z&S Food & Liquor in the 1300 block of West 87th Street, sources said.

That's the estimated Powerball jackpot for Wednesday's drawing. No one matched all six Powerball numbers—16-19-32-34-57 and Powerball number of 13—Saturday night, leading to the astronomical prize. The odds to win are one in 292.2 million. —ASSOCIATED PRESS

Igloo in downtown Chicago just a memory now

The city took down the igloo built in the median of Wacker Drive, just east of Michigan Avenue, on Friday, citing safety reasons, DNAInfo Chicago and WLS-TV reported. The igloo—the creation of David Sudler, 58, who lives in a nearby high-rise—went up last week. Sudler told RedEye last week that he used ice from unshoveled sidewalks to make a point about them. "I didn't want people falling. I started chopping the ice up and decided to cut it into squares and rectangles. I'd move it at night when there was less traffic and it was safer," Sudler told RedEye. "I sort of felt like an elf." —REDEYE

A CHICAGO FAN'S ROOTING GUIDE TO ALABAMA-CLEMSON

By Chris Sosa | REDEYE

As Clemson and Alabama prepare to face off in the College Football Playoff championship on Monday (7:30 p.m., ESPN), you as a Chicago fan might be asking, "What's in it for me?" That's a fair question considering that neither team is from the Midwest and neither has a player on its roster from the Chicago area. But there are plenty of reasons for Chicagoans to be emotionally invested in Monday's main event. CHSOSA@REDEYETCHICAGO.COM | @REDEYESPORTSCHI

ROOT FOR CLEMSON IF ...

You believe pizza binds us

When Clemson qualified for the College Football Playoff, coach Dabo Swinney invited fans into the team's stadium for a rally that included free pizza. Although you could deduct points because it wasn't deep-dish, Swinney clearly gets Chicago, whether he knows it or not.

You feel bad for the Big Ten

Alabama made easy work of Wisconsin and then Michigan State this season, obliterating the latter 38-0 in a College Football Playoff semifinal. If you hold a grudge to honor your Big Ten brethren—or simply can't stand the Southeastern Conference—the Tigers are your last hope to restore a bit of dignity to the Midwest.

You love the '85 Bears

Super Bowl champs and former Bears Steve Fuller and William "The Refrigerator" Perry both played at Clemson. (As did current Bears defensive lineman Jarvis Jenkins; no 1985 Bears or players on Chicago's current roster are Alabama alums.) BTW, let's hope the Fridge has a speedy recovery from a recent leg infection.

ROOT FOR ALABAMA IF ...

You love dynasties

The Crimson Tide are the Blackhaws of college football, having won three of their 13 national titles in the past seven years (2009, 2011, 2012). By the NCAA's count, Alabama also won six championships under legendary coach Paul "Bear" Bryant, who got his nickname because he agreed to wrestle a bear as a teenager. Doesn't get any tougher than that, folks.

You're concerned for the Bears' future

As usual, Alabama's defense is loaded with potential first-round draft picks, in particular linebackers and defensive linemen. The Bears need help in both areas. Remember these names: defensive linemen A'Shawn Robinson, Jonathan Allen and Jarran Reed and linebacker Reggie Ragland. (Note: It would also be cool if Clemson defensive lineman Shaq Lawson ended up with the Bears, if only for his awesome name.)

You're the jealous type

Clemson recently announced plans to build a $55 million football complex that features a miniature golf course, laser tag, sand volleyball courts and a 24-seat HD theater. However, it will be available only to football players and staff, which seems terribly unfair. Rooting for Alabama might make you feel like you're supporting the "little" guy.

FROM NEWS SERVICES studs&duds

THE MOUTHWATCH

“I WOULD LIKE TO THANK MY WIFE, WHO LEFT {THE NEWS CONFERENCE} BECAUSE MY SON WAS CRYING, AND THAT’S MY FAULT; BUT I KNOW SHE’S HAPPY THIS PROCESS IS OVER.”

THE DIGIT

107.0

That's how many points the Bulls averaged in their past 10 games; they are 7-3 in that span. The Bulls will try to rebound from Saturday's loss at Atlanta when they host Washington on Monday (7 p.m., CSN). They might have Joakim Noah in the lineup as well; the veteran center has been recovering from a shoulder injury.

A backup gijallahorn is brought out to the field in Minnesota after the main horn broke because of the cold weather Sunday. AP PHOTO

How cold was it?!

With temperature at kickoff at minus-6 degrees, Sunday's Vikings-Seahawks game at Minnesota was the third-coldest playoff matchup in NFL history. It was so cold that the Vikings' gijallahorn, used to welcome the team into the stadium before home games, shattered hours before kickoff because of the frigid weather. According to Norse mythology, the giant horn was used to signal that the gods were coming.

44 NEW SHOWS DEBUT THIS WINTER. HERE THEY ARE IN 50 WORDS OR LESS.

By Elise De Los Santos | REDEYE

Oh, the weather outside might be frightful, but your couch will be delighted with your company as you check out these new shows premiering in the next few months.

Whether you're looking for a comedy, your standard present-day drama/thriller, something supernatural or futuristic, a costume/period series or anything in between, there's a new show out there waiting for you this winter.

Though this schedule takes you well into the spring (hopefully), we're following the rest of the networks and calling this our winter TV preview—with each new show summed up in 50 words or fewer. As always, dates and times are subject to change.

* = Recommended shows

COMEDY JAN. 13

Teachers (10 p.m., TV Land)

Despite their cardigans and knee-length dresses, six not-so-put-together grade school teachers are trying to figure out their personal lives while dealing with classrooms full of young students.

JAN. 14

Idiotsitter (9:30 p.m., Comedy Central)

The odd-couple comedy gets a twist when spoiled wild child Gene (Jillian Bell) is put under house arrest and her rich family puts her under the watch of a nanny, Billie (Charlotte Newhouse).

JAN. 17

Angie Tribeca (8 p.m., TBS)

Police procedurals get satirized by this comedy from Nancy and Steve Carell. A group of detectives, led by Angie Tribeca (Rashida Jones), investigate crimes in Los Angeles. Made to be binge-watched—TBS is airing the entire season marathon-style on Jan. 17. Its second season starts a week later.

JAN. 21

Baskets (9 p.m., FX)

Unable to speak French, aspiring French clown Chip Baskets (Zach Galifianakis) puts his dreams on hold and moves back home to Bakersfield, Calif., where he becomes a rodeo clown.

FEB. 5

Animals (10:30 p.m., HBO)

This animated series produced by the Duplass brothers explores the everyday problems faced by New York City's rats, pigeons, cockroaches, etc. They deal with many of the same issues humans do—what to bring to a party, having children, bad pickup lines and politics. A second season has already been ordered.

FEB. 11

Those Who Can't

(9:30 p.m., TruTV)
Playing off the saying, "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach," TruTV's first full-length scripted comedy follows the teachers at Smoot High School who may be more immature than their teenage students.

FEB. 19

Love (2:01 a.m., Netflix)

Just in time for your post-holiday hangover, this comedy follows the relationship of Gus (Paul Rust) and Gillian (Gillian Jacobs). It ises to be a hilarious take on modern dating. A second season has been ordered.

MARCH 2

The Real O'Neals

(7:30 p.m., Fox)
The series follows the Irish-American family of the O'Neals, who are a family of farmers in a rural town in Ireland.

Gillian Jacobs and Paul Rust in 'Love' starting a new, more honest chapter in their lives.

APRIL 11

The Detour (8 p.m., TBS)

It's the family road trip from hell. Created by comic couple Samantha Bee and Jason Jones (both "Daily Show" correspondents), "The Detour" follows Nate (Jones) and Robin (Natalie Zea) on the road with their two children and all the disasters they encounter along the way.

APRIL 20

Time-Traveling Bong
(9:30 p.m., Comedy Central)

This three-episode limited series pretty much sums it all up in the title, and it's picked the perfect day to premiere. The high-flying time travelers/cousins will be played by Ilana Glazer and Paul W. Downs of "Broad City."

CONTEMPORARY DRAMA/THRILLER JAN. 14

Degrassi: Next Class (2:01 a.m., Netflix)

The long-running drama series was going to end after 14 seasons on TeenNick but was saved by Netflix, which will air 20 episodes of "Next Class" featuring the same teen high school drama "Degrassi" is known for.

JAN. 17

Billions (9 p.m., Showtime)

U.S. Attorney Chuck Rhoades (Paul Giamatti) is on a crusade against ruthless hedge fund manager Bobby Axelrod (Damian Lewis) in this drama about New York finance where billions of dollars are on the line. Complicating things: Rhoades' wife, Wendy, who works for Axelrod's company.

JAN. 21

London Spy (9 p.m., BBC America)

Constant clubgoer Danny (Ben Whishaw) meets investment banker Alex (Edward Holcroft), and an instant connection forms between the two. But their love story becomes a spy story when Alex is found dead and in exploring his death, Danny finds himself in a worldwide web of espionage.

JAN. 25

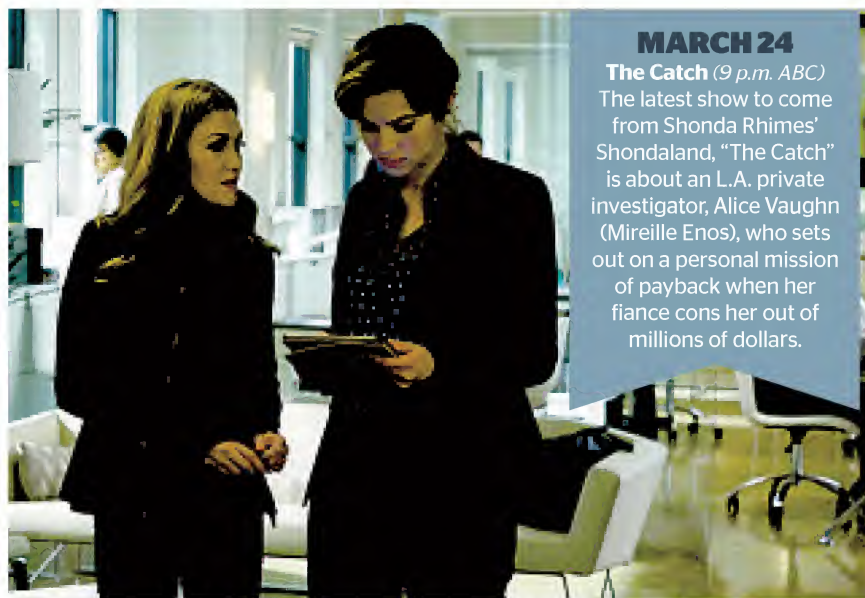

Recovery Road (8 p.m., Freeform)

At school by day, in rehab by night. That's the life of Maddie (Jessica Sula), a party girl who's sent to live with other recovering addicts in a sober-living residence, where she finds friendship and love.

JAN. 26

Outsiders (8 p.m., WGN America)

In the mountains of rural Kentucky, the close-knit Farrells have lived for hundreds of years outside of the law. But when their way of life is threatened by development, they are determined to fight back. Looks and feels like a cross between "Mad Max: Fury Road" and "Sons of Anarchy."

MARCH 24

The Catch (9 p.m., ABC)

The latest show to come from Shonda Rhimes' Shondaland, "The Catch" is about an L.A. private investigator, Alice Vaughn (Mireille Enos), who sets out on a personal mission of payback when her fiancé cons her out of millions of dollars.

MARCH 3

The Family (8 p.m., ABC)

Ten years after he went missing as a child, Adam (Liam James) is reunited with his family. His mother, Claire (Joan Allen), a politician who is running for governor, immediately accepts him without question despite the rest of the family's misgivings that he's really who he says he is.

MARCH 16

Criminal Minds: Beyond Borders
(9 p.m., CBS)

The spinoff is the second of the long-running CBS procedural (2011's "Criminal Minds: Suspect Behavior" had a single-season, 13-episode run), and "Beyond Borders" will focus on an FBI division led by Jack Garrett (Gary Sinese) that handles cases of American citizens in trouble abroad.

MARCH 30

The Path (Hulu)

Aaron Paul ("Breaking Bad") returns to TV in this drama about a cult-like community in upstate New York led by Cal Roberts (Hugh Dancy). Despite his family—including his wife, Sarah (Michelle Monaghan), and their children—being entrenched in this community, Eddie (Paul) begins to question his faith.

COSTUME/PERIOD DRAMA JAN. 17

Mercy Street (9 p.m., PBS)

Two Civil War nurses—the staunchly abolitionist Mary Phinney (Mary Elizabeth Winstead) and Southern belle/Confederate sympathizer Emma Green (Hannah James)—clash and learn to work side-by-side at a Union Army hospital in Alexandria, Va. Josh Radnor (aka Ted from "How I Met Your Mother") co-stars as Dr. Jedediah Foster.

JAN. 18

War and Peace

(8 p.m., A&E/Lifetime/History)

Set during Napoleon's invasion of Russia,

"War and Peace" follows Prince Andrei Bolkonsky (James Norton) trying to find glory on the battlefield, the spirited Natasha Rostova (Lily James) looking for love and romance, and Pierre Bezukhov (Paul Dano) trying to navigate aristocratic society after he unexpectedly inherits his father's title.

FEB. 14

Vinyl (8 p.m., HBO)

Executive producers Martin Scorsese and Mick Jagger bring viewers back to New York in the '70s, when record label president Richie Finestra (Bobby Cannavale) is trying to save his company as punk, disco and hip-hop enter the music scene. Sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll abound.

MARCH 8

Of Kings and Prophets (9 p.m., ABC)

The story of the prophet Samuel (Mohammad Bakri), the shepherd David (Olly Rix) and King Saul (Ray Winstone) gets the only kind of treatment a biblical story gets: the epic kind.

MARCH 9

Underground (WGN America)

Set in Civil War-era America, "Underground" follows a group of slaves from a Georgia plantation as they attempt to make a daring and dangerous escape to freedom. Executive produced by singer John Legend.

SUPERNATURAL/FUTURISTIC JAN. 12

Shadowhunters (8 p.m., Freeform)

Clary Fray (Katherine McNamara) finds out on her 18th birthday that she's a Shadowhunter, aka a human-angel hybrid who hunts down demons, and is thrown into a world of faeries, warlocks, vampires and werewolves. Based on the young-adult book series "The Mortal Instruments" by Cassandra Clare.

SUPERNATURAL/FUTURISTIC
JAN. 14*Colony (9 p.m., USA)

In the near future, Los Angeles has been occupied. Former FBI agent Will (Josh Holloway) and his wife, Katie (Sarah Wayne Callies), were separated from their son during the invasion, and the Proxy (Peter Jacobson) offers them a chance to get him back if they work with the occupational government.

JAN. 21DC's Legends of Tomorrow (7 p.m., CW)

DC expands its comic-book universe with the story of Rip Hunter (Arthur Darvill), a time-traveler who puts together a team of superheroes and villains (including Brandon Routh, Dominic Purcell and Wentworth Miller) to travel back in time in order to stop an immortal dictator from coming to power in the future.

JAN. 24The X-Files (9 p.m., Fox)

Scully (Gillian Anderson) and Mulder (David Duchovny) reunite to save the world from extraterrestrials once more in this six-episode miniseries, the first new episodes since 2002 of the sci-fi crime drama.

JAN. 25The Magician (8 p.m., Syfy)

Quentin (Jason Ralph) discovers that the magic he reads about is real when he stumbles upon Brakebills University, a secret school for magic that he's accepted into. His friend Julia (Stella Maeve), however, doesn't get into the school and turns to a secret society to learn about her powers.

REAL TALK/REAL LIFEJAN. 17*The Circus: Inside The Greatest Political Show on Earth (7 p.m., Showtime)

The docu-series turns the lens on the 2016 presidential race and promises to show what's going on behind the scenes of the candidates' campaigns ahead of the Iowa caucuses.

FEB. 2American Crime Story:*The People v. O.J. Simpson (9 p.m., FX)

Ryan Murphy ("American Horror Story") takes anthology-style storytelling into the true crime arena with the 1995 murder trial of O.J. Simpson (Cuba Gooding Jr.), exploring what was going on both inside and outside of the courtroom. Also starring Sarah Paulson, John Travolta and David Schwimmer.

FEB. 3Madoff (7 p.m., ABC)

Bernie Madoff (Richard Dreyfuss) made headlines in 2008-09 after defrauding investors of billions of dollars in a decadeslong Ponzi scheme, and "Madoff" tells the story of how one man pulled off the

JAN. 23Chelsea Does (8 p.m., Netflix)

Chelsea Handler returns to TV in search of the truth on four disparate topics—marriage, racism, Silicon Valley and drugs—as she "questions things I never did before" in the form of a four-part docu-film series.

largest financial fraud in U.S. history, from his point of view.

FEB. 8Full Frontal with Samantha Bee (9 p.m., TBS)

It takes balls to enter the late-night arena (according to promos for the show, "10-pound lady balls," to be exact), but that's exactly what former (longest-serving) "Daily Show" correspondent Bee will do in February.

FEB. 9Not Safe with Nikki Glaser

(9:30 p.m., Comedy Central)

Sex and relationships take center stage on this talk show, where no topic is too steamy or taboo to be explored through guest panels, interviews and social experiments, including Glaser hooking up her friends to a lie detector machine and asking them if they want to have sex with her.

A LITTLE BIT OF BOTH
DRAMA & COMEDY*JAN. 22*Mad Dogs (Amazon)

When a group of friends travel to Milo's (Billy Zane) villa in Belize, the fun getaway soon escalates from a wild ride of "Hangover"-style antics to deception and murder.

JAN. 27You, Me & the Apocalypse (7 p.m., NBC)

The end of days is nigh with a comet headed straight for Earth, and the apocalypse brings together a group of wacky characters including foul-mouthed priest Father Jude (Rob Lowe), librarian Rhonda (Jenna Fischer) and white supremacist Leanne (Megan Mullally).

MARCH 31Rush Hour (9 p.m., CBS)

Play-by-his-own-rules L.A. detective Carter (Justin Hires) and by-the-book Hong Kong detective Lee (Jon Foo) are paired together to fight crime in this reboot of the film franchise starring Jackie Chan and Chris Tucker.

SUPERNATURAL/FUTURISTIC
& COSTUME/PERIOD*JAN. 23*Beowulf (9 p.m., Esquire)

The Esquire network's second scripted series gets a "Game of Thrones"-esque treatment. Based on the medieval epic poem you may (not) have read in high school, "Beowulf" is set in the mythical Shieldlands and follows the titular warrior (Kieran Bew) as he tries to clear his name of murder.

FEB. 1511/22/63 (Hulu)

J.J. Abrams and Stephen King bring King's best-selling novel to the small screen. High school teacher Jake Epping (James Franco) travels back in time to stop John F. Kennedy's assassination, but changing history proves more complicated than simply trying to stop Lee Harvey Oswald from killing the president.

SUPERNATURAL/FUTURISTIC
& DRAMA/THRILLER*JAN. 13*Second Chance (8 p.m., Fox)

James Pritchard (Robert Kazinsky), a 75-year-old corrupt ex-sheriff, is brought back to life in a younger, stronger, almost superhuman body by scientist siblings Mary (Dilshad Vadsaria) and Otto (Adhir Kalyan) Goodwin. Pritchard has the chance to right past wrongs or make the same mistakes again.

JAN. 25Lucifer (8 p.m., Fox)

Evil gets a face-lift when the devil (Tom Ellis) moves to Los Angeles and uses his ability to draw out people's deepest, darkest desires to help LAPD homicide detective Chloe (Lauren German) solve crimes. Yes, really.

MARCH 7Damien (9 p.m., A&E)

Remember the little boy from "The Omen"? Well, in this follow-up series to the 1976 movie, Damien (Bradley James) is all grown up and doesn't remember his satanic past, but when he finds out the truth about himself, he has to come to terms with being the Antichrist.

LAST SHOW STANDING

We're also checking back on the shows featured in our fall preview to see which have been canceled or already been renewed for a second season, and which received orders for more episodes or got their order cut down. (A standard order for a series is 13 episodes, but a coveted "back-nine" order would give a show a full season of 22 episodes, while on the flip side, some unfortunate series get their episode orders reduced due to bad ratings and are likely to be officially canceled soon.) Those that are "up in the air" have finished or are close to finishing their first season, but we haven't heard anything about a renewal or cancellation ... yet. —E.D.

TAROT.COM

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19

You might have an unexpected opportunity for a secret encounter with someone special. If you are dating someone and your relationship is clandestine, it's likely that this week you'll both feel that you're happier keeping things between you. This week, that approach will lead to heart-pounding rewards.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 18

If you and a friend share chemistry, it's possible that one of you will make an unexpected move that will take your relationship to the next level. There's every indication that you'll be making the right choice if you go from friends to lovers. Although you might have been thinking about this, you still needed a push. This week, that might happen.

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20

Your partner will be your sounding board and greatest cheerleader this week. He or she will help you iron out a solid plan to help manifest one of your most heart-felt aspirations. In addition, he or she will rally to support you, inspire you and lift you up in ways that will only deepen your love.

Aries March 21-April 19

Romantic excitement is on the docket—front and center! You'll want to have an adventure with your lover, and luckily, he or she will be more than happy to play. You might plan a trip together overseas or spontaneously hop on a plane. Your partner might even be the one who presents you with plane tickets. Get packing!

Taurus April 20-May 20

This week, if single, pay close attention to someone you meet who has an unusual flair. He or she might be from another part of the world and leave you captivated. If you're in a relationship, you and your partner will make a financial decision together that's just between the two of you. It'll be positive!

Gemini May 21-June 20

Your love life is electric this week! Not only will you enjoy a happy and stress-free week in matters of the heart, but you'll also feel pleasantly surprised by your lover in some way. He or she might surprise you with a gesture that helps you get closer to one of your personal aspirations. Wow, that's a groovy kind of love!

Cancer June 21-July 22

Expect smooth sailing this week in the relationship department. Conversations between you and your mate will focus on the positive, and you might even spend time happily strolling down memory lane together. Reminiscing about the past will only strengthen the bond you share in the present.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22

Your love life is on fire this week! On Tuesday, Venus will give Uranus a sexy nod, electrifying your romantic prospects and opening you up to meeting someone who isn't your usual type. There is every potential for a "love at first sight" connection with this energy, so get ready for some heart-pounding escapades.

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22

You might have won the romance jackpot this week! Because Mercury is retrograde, it's quite possible that you'll hook up with an old flame and realize that there might be a very good reason to give this love connection a second chance. Wow!

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 22

If you're attached, your lover will want to explore new horizons together this week. He or she might approach you with a request to do something quirky and experimental together. This may or may not involve the bedroom, but it will surely get your heart beating faster. Ooh la-la!

Scorpio Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Consider going out with another couple this week. You and your sweetie will enjoy intellectually stimulating conversation along with good old-fashioned fun. If you're single, there's a good chance you'll meet someone special at your gym or the office. A sudden love connection might take you by surprise.

Sagittarius Nov. 22-Dec. 21

This week, you can expect even more romantic excitement. You and your lover will want to break out of your comfort zone and try something new together. This can be anything from a new restaurant to some sexy new moves in the bedroom. One way or another, you'll definitely be hot stuff!

Stay golden

By Morgan Olsen | REDEYE

Last night, we dusted off our style-critic shoes and tuned in to the first major fashion moment of 2016, the 73rd annual Golden Globe Awards. Just as important as the main event, the red carpet coverage provided many opportunities to ooh and aah at Hollywood's finest. Of course, we'd be remiss if we didn't take a look back at the style moments that got us this far. Here are the most memorable looks that made history in years past—and last night.

GETTY IMAGES PHOTOS

2002 Reese Witherspoon

Her starring role in "Legally Blonde" landed Witherspoon a nomination in 2002. Meanwhile, lace was hitting its prime.

2003 Anne Hathaway

If this photo doesn't make you feel old, I'm not sure what will. A young Hathaway strikes a pose in an all-pink ensemble on the red carpet in 2003.

2007 Beyoncé

Making an appearance for her award-nominated role in "Dreamgirls," Beyoncé put the gold in Golden Globes and managed to make body oil look really cool.

2011 Angelina Jolie

Based on her red carpet track record, it's safe to say that black may be Jolie's favorite color. But in 2011, she stunned in this long-sleeve emerald number.

2013 Jennifer Lopez

Lopez has been flexing her fashion muscles on red carpets for years, and this all-lace illusion gown was no exception. Really, though, could someone help me understand the underwear situation?

2014 Lupita Nyong'o

Nominated for her role in "12 Years a Slave," Nyong'o shut down the red carpet in this caped dress. And though she didn't take home an award, the dress went down in history.

2016 Gina Rodriguez

Navy dresses dominated the red carpet last night, and Rodriguez really nailed the trend in this princess-style gown. And that smile? Swoon.

THE END?

Lupe Fiasco announced Friday that his upcoming album "Roy," due out this year, will be his last album. But, The A.V. Club reported, when Fiasco responded to questions about his long-anticipated sequel to "The Cool," he said it would arrive in 2017, well after the 2016 release date of "Roy." When fans questioned what form the sequel would take, Fiasco tweeted, "No comment," according to avclub.com. So we're pretty confused.

Katie Holmes, James Van Der Beek, Michelle Williams and Joshua Jackson in 'Dawson's Creek'

We don't wanna wait ...

And now we don't have to. As part of a deal with Sony Pictures Television, Hulu has acquired "Dawson's Creek," "Party of Five," "The Shield" and "Damages," according to thr.com. The deal also includes movies such as "Jerry Maguire," "Midnight in Paris" and "My Best Friend's Wedding," THR reported. OK, we're staying indoors and bingeing on some "Creek." Who's with us?

THE QUOTE

"THE SHOW ITSELF DIDN'T QUITE FEEL IT HAD THE JOY AND THE LAUGHTER AND THE HEART THAT IT SHOULD HAVE."

—Paul Lee, ABC's network chief, on the disappointment of last year's revival of "The Muppets," according to avclub.com.

Paper! Snow! A ghost!

ABC and Sony Pictures Television are reviving the game show "The $100,000 Pyramid." According to vulture.com, the show will be weekly, and Michael Strahan will serve as the host. The show is expected to get a 10-episode run this summer, Vulture reported, and the game's basic format is expected to stay the same. Does anyone think Matt LeBlanc will reprise his role as Joey Tribbiani for the game? We hope.

THE DIGIT

$53M

That's how much money "Star Wars: The Force Awakens" debuted to in China, according to THR.com. The film hit the $1.73 billion mark globally this weekend. While the latest movie in the "Star Wars" franchise continues to climb the highest-grossing-movie-ever chart (it's at No. 3 now), it came in second at the box office on Friday to "The Revenant," which garnered $14.4 million. "The Force Awakens" only made $10.7 million, THR reported.
